

The INDEPENDENT

Wines of the week

Terry Kirby on the best bottles to buy this week

Sunday lunch

Abbotts & Delaunay Zephyr Limoux 2012

The first of three very different Languedoc whites is an award-winning Chardonnay from an Aude wine-maker that sounds like a firm of English solicitors, bringing a more refined tone to an area known for its bulk wines. Well-balanced between fresh, citric minerality and a richer depth, this is ideal for fine white fish, such as turbot, with salsa verde. £16.99, averys.com

Terry Kirby on the best bottles to buy this week

Sunday lunch

Abbotts & Delaunay Zephyr Limoux 2012

The first of three very different Languedoc whites is an award-winning Chardonnay from an Aude wine-maker that sounds like a firm of English solicitors, bringing a more refined tone to an area known for its bulk wines. Well-balanced between fresh, citric minerality and a richer depth, this is ideal for fine white fish, such as turbot, with salsa verde. £16.99, averys.com